Royal Princes win charity polo match

Today, Saturday 13 June, Prince William and Prince Harry took part in a charity Polo Match sponsored by Halcyon Gallery. The Dalwhinnie Crook Charity Polo Match was held at Longdole Polo Club near Brimpsfield, Gloucestershire this afternoon. The Princes' team 'Halcyon Gallery' won against 'Lovelocks' with a score of 9 to 8 1/2.

Prince William and Prince Harry joined the match following The Queen's official birthday celebrations in London. The day was held in aid of Exercise Khumbu Challenge, of which Prince Harry is Patron, and other Service Charities, and was attended by 200 special guests.

During the day, Halcyon Gallery treated guests to a preview of a magnificent new sculpture 'Isis'. Created by artist Simon Gudgeon through a collaboration with the Royal Parks Foundation, 'Isis' will be unveiled in the London's Hyde Park later in the summer to help raise £1.5m for a new children's education centre in the park.

Situated in the heart of Mayfair, London, Halcyon Gallery is one of Europe's leading art galleries. The gallery supports a number of high-profile charitable causes, including the Royal Parks Foundation, the charity for London's eight Royal Parks, and The Duke of Edinburgh's International Award programme for young people.
